

Buyers Ed

Buyers Ed is proudly presented by MGIC, the nation's leading provider of mortgage insurance. Since its inception, MGIC has helped millions of American families achieve the dream of homeownership. We remain committed to helping potential homebuyers to better understand the mortgage process and to overcome the single greatest hurdle in homeownership, the down payment. When you are ready to buy a home, be sure to ask your lender how you can reduce the required down payment by financing with mortgage insurance from MGIC.

Welcome to Buyers Ed homebuyer education at www.mgichome.com

Congratulations on making the decision to learn more about homeownership! The more you know about owning a home before you buy, the more likely you are to be a successful homeowner. All that's left to do now is get started...

1

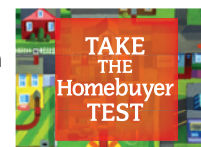

Read the material.

The Buyers Ed website breaks the home-buying process into understandable, easy-to-digest pieces. Study at your own pace.

2

Take the test.

Click the Take the Homebuyer Test button to open and complete a short registration form. You'll need my Buyers Ed Code, provided below. The test isn't timed. You can exit and return anytime to finish.

Buyers Ed Code:

3

Get certified.

If you pass the test, your Homebuyer Education Certificate of Achievement will be forwarded to me. I will then contact you to discuss your next steps.

If you don't pass, don't worry! Review the Buyers Ed material — especially the Buyers Ed Test Tips at the end of each section — and take the test again.

?

Questions?

If you have questions about the Buyers Ed Homebuyer Program, contact me: